Soccer-Themed Sports Recovery Resort Club

Corporate Vision

Irvine Great Park

Our Vision in One Line

To build a soccer-themed sports recovery resort club at Irvine Great Park — with its 24 professional fields as the core setting, themed experiences and resort-style relaxation as the vehicle, making recovery a rigid part of the training plan, so that everyone can fully enjoy the fun of sports and soccer here.

Why Now

- World Cup legacy: the 2026 World Cup was held in the United States, with Los Angeles among the host cities; the tournament's momentum stayed in the community, and youth soccer participation and spectator enthusiasm are at a high.
- Recovery has become a rigid need: from professional players to amateur runners, the science of 'train — recover — train again' is going mainstream, and demand for recovery technology and therapy services keeps growing.
- Wellness travel is a global trend: travelers increasingly travel to 'become better,' not just to sightsee.

Why Irvine Great Park

One of the most expansive urban parks in Southern California, with the space to host a themed resort club; the park has 24 professional soccer fields, with hundreds of youth teams playing here every week — a walk away after the game, so guests are right at the doorstep; next to the Greater Los Angeles metro area, easy to reach, serving both local and visiting guests.

Business Model: Four Pillars

- Themed resort club — immersive soccer-culture stays, 200–300 rooms, tournament-season and training-camp packages;
- Professional sports recovery center — physical therapy, hot-and-cold hydrotherapy, recovery technology, for athletes and members alike;
- Soccer events and training camps — top amateur tournaments across age groups, youth training camps, corporate team building;
- Healthy dining and community space — sports nutrition dining, talks and workshops, building a healthy-lifestyle community.
